Dear Mr. Alutto,

It has come to my attention that your company, Stericycle, continues to dispose of aborted fetuses and the instruments used to kill them for Planned Parenthood abortion centers around the country. For example, recently a Stericycle truck was confirmed picking up aborted fetuses at the Bedford Heights, OH location (see video).

Additionally, Planned Parenthood's legal counsel indeed confirmed that Planned Parenthood—Northeast Ohio uses only Stericycle to collect, transport and dispose of aborted children and the instruments used to kill them. Stericycle has also been documented picking up medical waste at abortion facilities in several cities across the nation.

Despite these findings, Selin Hoboy, Vice-President of Legislative and Regulatory Affairs, has said that Stericycle “does not accept fetuses” in accordance to your Regulated Medical Waste Acceptance Policy. This is merely a semantic ploy. According to the policy, Stericycle will not accept “complete human remains,” which includes fetuses. However, babies are not “complete” after being dismembered, decapitated, and disemboweled in standard abortion methods. Their broken parts and torn tissue are categorized by Stericycle as “pathological waste”—defined as “human or animal parts, organs, tissues, and surgical specimens—which you do accept. So while your company may not be picking up intact fetuses, you do accept aborted babies’ fragmented body parts. Stericycle uses this technical exemption to justify your continued collaboration in child-killing.

Stericycle needs to stop disposing of aborted fetuses and the instruments used to kill them. Planned Parenthood depends upon the services of medical waste companies to dispose of dead babies. Providing this service to Planned Parenthood therefore enables the killing of preborn children. Without those services, Planned Parenthood would be unable to dispose of the babies they kill and the murder of millions of innocent children by Planned Parenthood would likely halt.

The bottom line is: Stericycle should stop doing the dirty work of Planned Parenthood. If Planned Parenthood wants to kill babies, it should have to deal with the dead bodies itself.

Stericycle serves an important role in disposing of legitimate medical waste but is complicit in the deaths of thousands of preborn children. We urge you to discontinue providing Planned Parenthood your services to dispose of aborted children and the instruments used to kill them and thus avoid the “adverse attention” this will bring to your company and the individuals you employ.
